Franklin County Engineer Publishes 2015 Edition of County Road Map and Atlas

(Franklin County, Ohio - July 31, 2015)-- Dean C. Ringle, P.E., P.S., Franklin County Engineer, announces that the 2015 edition of the Franklin County Road Map and Atlas are now available and can be obtained through the Engineer's Offices and at other county, municipal, and state facilities.

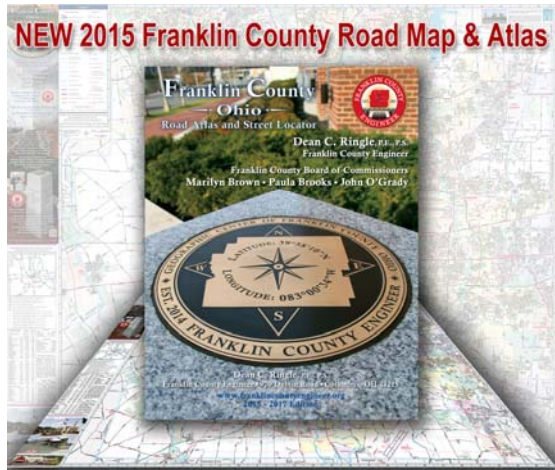

"Our map and atlas continue to be trusted references and essential resources for residents and visitors of Franklin County, Ohio. This edition includes over 750 additions or changes to public roads, annexations, parks, golf courses and other various points of interest since the last publication in 2012," said Dean Ringle. The 2015 map also highlights a few of the hundreds of monuments laced throughout Franklin County. The front cover of both the map and atlas feature the Geographic Center of Franklin County monument and encourages those who find the monument to take a photo and share it with the Engineer's Office on their Facebook page.

The full color, 43-inch by 37-inch map shows 12,424 public roads, which are listed in the map index, and over 1,000 points of interest such as airports, hospitals, parks, municipal buildings and high schools. The atlas, which is the map published as a 100 page book, also contains a street locator index containing more than 4,300 additional private roads.

The county road map is distributed free of charge at the Franklin County Engineer's Office located at 970 Dublin Road in Columbus. The atlas can be obtained for the nominal fee of $1.00. Office hours are 7:30am – 4:30pm, Monday through Friday. The atlas map pages and street locator index can also be viewed in a PDF format on our website: www.franklincountyengineer.org.
